

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XIX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, JUNE 30, 1891.

NO. 34

BARBOURVILLE, KNOX COUNTY.

—The citizens are preparing for a celebration on the 4th.

—Mrs. A. K. Cook and sister, Miss Annie, the charming daughter of Col. John Dishman, visited Pineville Friday and Saturday. Major E. W. Freeman, editor of the News, delivered the Masonic oration St. John's day. Miss Cordie Colson, one of Middleboro's fairest daughters, was in the city visiting last week.

—Mr. Alex. Sevier, the genial and big hearted traveling man for J. M. Robinson & Co., of Louisville, writes a letter from this place to the Mountain Echo giving a statement of the joint debate here last Monday between Judge J. H. Tinsley, of this place, and David G. Colson, of Middlesboro, which the Echo was pleased to accept as correct. Mr. Sevier is a democrat of the rebel sort and this is the first instance of when the Mountain Echo was ever known to take the statement of a democrat as being true, but circumstances alter cases you know, and the circumstances in this case were such that not a republican in the whole county would have written such a letter, notwithstanding the fact that their late State convention at Lexington recommended the adoption of the new constitution.

—If the Mountain Echo man would make a visit to this section and learn the real sentiment of the people he would not question so severely the veracity of Judge Alcorn's informant as to how the people of Knox county would vote on the constitutional question next August. He refers to the judge's informant as "they," and says that "they" can not be found. Now we would like to state in behalf of a majority of the people of the counties of Knox, Bell and Whitley, that there are more "theys" than the Mountain Echo ever dreamed there were in this section, and on the 3rd day of next August "they" will come out and vote solidly against that rotten document called the new constitution. In establishing the fact that Knox county is for the new constitution the Echo calls attention to Mr. Alex. Sevier's letters from this city to that paper. Now we would like to ask the Echo if it didn't write Mr. Sevier a personal letter requesting a statement of the condition of affairs in this section and suggest the nature of the answer it desired, and state that it was making "a special feature" of the new constitution in this campaign? It is true that Col. John Dishman has said he would likely vote for the constitution, and so has Jos. D. Black expressed a like intention. But the majority of Knox county's prominent men are opposed to it, some of whom are Hon. John H. Wilson, D. K. Rawlings, C. F. Davidson, Judge J. H. Tinsley, H. C. Faulkner, Col. A. H. Clark, Dr. O. P. Herndon, Judge S. Golden, Dr. J. N. Baughman and a host of others. But the JOURNAL's correspondent has never heard a single farmer or day laborer express himself in favor of this document, and in addition to this the colored population of Knox as well as Bell and Whitley will vote to a man against it.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. J. C. Coldwell, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Elizabethtown, has accepted a call to Holly Springs, Miss.

—The High Bridge menagerie will open to the public July 10 and continue 10 days. Talmage will perform on the 11th and 12th.

—A Lutheran pastor at Owensboro was personally assaulted by a former member whose expulsion the pastor had brought about.

—Rev. De Witt Talmage is soon to lecture on "Is There a Hell?" This is a burning issue with most men and some women.—Glasgow Times.

—Rev. M. M. Riley, pastor of the Main street Baptist church in Bowling Green, has resigned to become vice-president and secretary of Georgetown College.

—A drummer named Fife attempted to play the role of Sam Jones at Winston, N. C., by denouncing from the pulpit all the society people who had engaged in a dance and got a caning for his impudence.

—The Christian church of Stanford desires through the INTERIOR JOURNAL to extend grateful thanks to all persons who in any way contributed to the success of the State Sunday-school convention.

—Rev. G. W. Bolling advertises an 8-day meeting at the Baptist church here, beginning the 3d Sunday in July and continuing till the 4th Sunday, inclusive. Many of the eminent colored divines will be here and excursions will be run from Louisville.

—The colored Methodists have set apart next Sunday for a grand rally to raise funds to remodel their church, which is much needed. A basket meeting will be given and all lovers of Christianity are asked to be present and give a helping hand. The pastor, Rev. E. Wilson, has been appointed to ask aid of the white friends and will call on them at their homes and places of business.

MT. SALEM.

—Arch Goode, of Fannin county, Texas, is now visiting among his old associates in this section. Time is adorning his head with silvery threads.

—Miss Bettie Lyon we learn is employed to teach the Richland school this year. This is a judicious selection, as Miss Bettie has a fine reputation as a teacher.

—Emmett McCormack as usual is handling lambs, and is circulating freely around this place. J. L. Bradshaw has been very sick for several days. Miss Rachel Bradshaw will teach the public school at Labascus, Casey county, this year.

—Calling on Philbert Richards a few days since he exhibited to us for inspection a new contribution to the census, it being of the male persuasion. This is doing well, as this is the third specimen of that kind, he having married four years ago at the age of 18.

—The return of W. T. Richards and Miss Lucy Vincent from a two weeks visit to Miss Lucy's relatives in Owen county is daily expected. There are busy rumors afloat that Tom has taken on himself the yoke of a Benedict and is now enjoying his honeymoon in the Queen City and various other places.

—Dan Lucas seems to be in ill luck. His barn lately burned up. He lost his pocket-book with $50 in it a few days ago. He searched all day for it, and was on the point of dissecting some of his neighbor's sheats running loose in his field, when fortunately another neighbor came along and found it for him.

—Winter before last, while Mrs. Hannah Richards and family were staying in Iowa, her youngest son, Walter, familiarly known as "Pat," was taken with la grippe and has been suffering with nervous troubles ever since, so much so lately that his friends were fearful that his illness might result seriously. But we are now happy to inform his many friends that his skillful physician lately changed remedies and since then his improvement has been marked and rapid, so much so that there is every prospect of "Pat" soon being himself again.

The Teachers' Route to Toronto

Is via the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Day Railroad from Cincinnati.

A rate of one fare for the round trip has been made by the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad and its connections to Toronto and return, on account of the National Educational Association meeting to be held in that city July 14-17. The C. H. & D., the only line running direct from Cincinnati to Detroit, is the through-car link between the South and the North and with sleeping cars on all night trains and chair cars on day trains, it invites the patronage of all teachers and their friends who want to go to the meeting comfortably and expeditiously. Ask your local agents for tickets via Cincinnati and the C. H. & D. For rates and full information address any agent of the C. H. & D. or E. O. McCormick, general passenger and ticket agent, Cincinnati, O.

Good's Springs.

A grand picnic will be given at this beautiful resort, July 4th. Will insure everybody a nice time who attends this picnic. These are very fine picnic grounds, situated in a beautiful valley on the banks of Dix River, with plenty of shade. Among the many attractions will be a good dinner and supper, boating and dancing, which will be free in the morning. Everybody invited.

J. F. Cook, Proprietor.

THAT OPEN CLAUSE.—The power of defeating any proposed amendments to the new constitution will rest with 16 senators who may be opposed to it, as "such amendment or amendments" must be agreed to by three-fifths of all the members elected to each House before the measure can be entered on the journals. If the disputed points of the constitution excite as much controversy in the legislatures as they did among the members of the convention, it will be a difficult matter to get a three-fifths vote in favor of any amendment. This is an open clause with a vengeance.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

She spent five minutes at a druggist's directory and then sweetly purchased a two-cent stamp, remarking: "I don't need it at present, but when persons use a directory I think they ought to purchase something, however trifling."

The new $2 silver certificates will be printed in a bright green and carmine instead of dull green and light brown. Senator Foster's admiration for calico seems likely to be impressed upon our national currency.

There are 300,000 colored votes in Ohio and not an office-holder among them. The anti-negro record of the Harrison administration is something remarkable.

You can bestow love and kindness on your fellow man without any fear of impoverishing yourself. Indeed the more you give the more you will have to give.

GRAB ORCHARD.

—Miss Mollie Warner has been engaged to teach the school at Watts Chapel.

—The L. & N. will open the night office at this point July 1st. So Mr. J. L. Nelson, who will have charge thereof, tells us.

—Miss Alvira Hays, who died of consumption at Mt. Vernon Saturday, was a sister of Mrs. Granville Haley, of this place. Our clever undertaker, J. H. Stephens, furnished the casket, and she was buried Sunday. She was 37 years old.

—Misses Maggie and Fannie Cochran and Lulu McClure, a trio of Paint Lick beauties, are the guests of Miss Anna McClure. Mr. Frank Dillion has accepted a position in the Western Union office at Middlesboro. Mr. R. Lee Davis and sister, Miss Katie, have returned from a week's visit to relatives in Gardard. Miss Ella Watson, Lancaster's fair postmistress, spent Sunday with Mrs. D. B. Edmiston.

—Next week Mr. D. B. Edmiston, democratic candidate for the legislature, will make a tour of the county for the purpose of meeting the people who have honored him as their standard bearer in August. He will deliver no speeches and do no "treating," but give you instead the old-fashioned democratic grip to inspire you with a fellow feeling that will make you wondrous kind when his name is put on the poll books election day.

—Hon. Henry H. Houston, republican candidate for lieutenant governor, and Hon. W. H. Miller, constitutional convention delegate, spoke to a good sized audience here Saturday. The former enunciated the usual cut-and-dried, campaign sentiments, and closed with an eloquent appeal for the new constitution; while the latter, in his convincing way, showed up his hundred reasons why the people should turn their backs on the old organic law and support the new. Much interest was manifested in the discussions, and both speakers were given the closest attention.

—The Masonic barbecue and picnic here Wednesday was a colossal success, if a big crowd, plenty of edibles and spirit stirring eloquence have anything to do with making an affair successful. Speeches were delivered by Judge Carter, Richard Martin, N. G. Wilmot, Felix Rogers, and other high Masons, which the vast throng took as a sort of sauce to the good things with which they stuffed their bread-baskets. A hop at College Hall wound up the festivities, and everybody went away happy. The committee of arrangement and the good ladies, who so ably assisted in the management of the tables, deserve the thanks of every man, woman and child present.

—Mrs. Amelia Pleasants, wife of Harvey Pleasants, Esq., died Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Her death was not unexpected. For years she had been a sufferer of that vital-racking malady, chronic rheumatism, and several months before her death was compelled to give up her crutches and cease locomotion altogether. She was about 73 years old, or 15 years younger than her venerable husband, whose picture appeared in the I. J.'s octogenarian column recently, and who, with two children, Mrs. Dan Stagg and Mr. Henry Pleasants, are left to mourn her loss. She was a member of the Baptist church, and a type of those good, pure-minded, domestic women whom we of this day and generation delight to honor as the contemporaries of our mothers. After funeral services by Eld. J. G. Livingston the remains were deposited in the family burying ground.

—Hickman White, a Barbourville negro, barely escaped being lynched for attempted rape on a daughter of B. B. Golden.

—A law has just gone into effect in Missouri requiring storekeepers and others to furnish their women employees with seats.

—Thos. Tisdale, who left his family in Canada 31 years ago, returned the other day to find his wife married to a third husband. They will resume former relations.

—Michigan University "graduated" 620 persons from the various departments, the largest number ever turned loose at one time from an American institution.

—"Under the new constitution the republicans will have a good chance to get into power in this State. The provisions will assist us."—Internal Revenue Collector Albert Scott, of Louisville.

—Dr. L. R. Yates sends us a copy of a Kansas City paper giving a full account of the murder by a deputy sheriff of Sam Wood, the noted politician of Stevens County, Kansas. The killing was the outcome of the Hay Meadow massacre.

—At Pleasure Ridge Park, near Louisville, in a fight with Clay Stewart and Dudley Alsop, Sidney Smith was fatally shot. Stewart received wounds from which he may die. The three are well-to-do young farmers, and had all been paying attention to the same young lady.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—The city dais have put in three street lamps at much needed places.

—The democrats are going to put out a candidate for the senate in this district. It is time they were doing it.

—The Knights of Labor will give a picnic at Pittsburgh on the 4th of July.

—Mr. James Province is down very low with erysipelas. Mr. James Hackney is confined to his bed with the flux. The little child of Mr. Ray Province has been very sick for several days. Mrs. Martha Craft, who has been very sick at Mrs. Pearl's for some time, is much better.

—Deputy Collector C. M. Randall has just returned from a raid into nearly all the mountain counties to break up the illicit distilleries he could find. The trip resulted in his destroying three stills, lots of whisky and hundreds of gallons of beer. Two of the stills were in far off Leitcher.

—DEATHS.—"Big" George Chestnut died Friday at Dr. N. M. Seales'. George was well known all over the county and had many relatives and friends. He had typhoid fever. Mr. Tom Mason, an old citizen, died at Pittsburgh Friday. A little child of Mr. Jacob Hosen, of this place, died of cholera infantum Friday and was buried Saturday.

—Charley Lane, a miner living at Pittsburgh, was accidentally shot in the abdomen Thursday at Altamont and died immediately. He had placed his shot gun in one of the bank cars and got in himself, when another miner came along and threw some tools in, which struck the hammer of the gun, discharging it.

—Mr. Henry Oakst, who has the contract for building a walk and rock fence in front of the court-house, is now putting the rock on the ground and will soon begin to put it in position. He took the work for something over $400, when those who seem to know say it is worth almost twice as much. Let the good work go on in our progressive town.

—Joe Joplin, the republican candidate for the legislature, was here Friday and went to Pittsburgh Saturday for the purpose of attending the call meeting of the knights of labor and farmers alliance for the purpose of nominating a candidate of their own. Mr. Joplin did not succeed in getting an endorsement as he expected, but they instead endorsed C. W. Fagan, a republican of his county. Rockcastle, if Rockcastle will turn loose some good democrat now and stick to him, Laurel will do her duty and something will be mighty certain to happen that would be for the public good of both. Come on!

—George T. Farris and W. A. Parsley are home again from their business trips. W. R. Hardin, Evan Jones and Charley Catching have returned from letting mail routes. Miss Sallie Mahan and Mrs. Green, of Danville, Misses Emma Garrard and Lucy White and Mr. Will Murphy, of Manchester, and Miss Minnie Elliott, of Kirksville, were a happy party at the Riley House Friday. Miss Elliott was on her way to Pineville and the other parties were bound for Manchester, to which place Mr. R. C. Ford accompanied them. A dance was given in their honor Friday night. Mr. Hayward will resume his duties as depot agent on July 1, after a month "off," enjoying himself in the west and at his former home in Indiana. H. A. Roundtree is out on a trial trip letting mail contracts.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Charles Stewart Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea, his paramour, were married in London Thursday.

—This announcement, which comes on a beautifully engraved card, will cause some hearts that we know to grow inexpressibly sad as they think of what might have been:

Dr. Gilbert D. Gregor, Elizabeth Pagan, married June 24, 1891, Louisville. At home, Park City, Utah.

The doctor has won a treasure. May he guard it with undying devotion.

DEATHS' DOINGS.

—Mr. J. C. Hays has received intelligence of the death of Mrs. Joanna M. Hays, wife of his brother P. F. Hays, which occurred at Honey Grove, Texas, last Wednesday, of cancer. Mrs. Hays was the second wife of Mr. Hays and was a daughter of ex-Treasurer Davidson, of Frankfort. She was an excellent woman and a devoted member of the Presbyterian church. Only one child, now Mrs. Lucy Colton, survives her.

—C. C. Beatty was drowned in the Kentucky River above High Bridge while engaged with a raft.

—A babe was struck by lightning and killed while in its mother's arms at Lowell, Ark., but the mother was not hurt.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The New Constitution and the Railroads.

Is it possible, after all, that the tragic rage manifested by the constitution builders against the wicked railroads was only assumed, that in fact their wild anti-incorporation war-whoop was but "sound and fury signifying nothing?" Let us see about this.

Probably the most grievous burden imposed upon the citizen by the necessities of government is the annual, inexorable impost of taxes. At this sore spot inequality or injustice is soonest and most keenly felt by that patient beast of burden, the tax-payer. The convention, with a loud flourish of trumpets, set to work to make both injustice and inequality forevermore impossible. In the first place, (Sec. 176) they exempted from taxation, as does the present statute, churches, eleemosynary institutions, &c., and "not more in value of personal property than $250." By this last clause, under a conservative estimate, ninety millions of household property in the State, now untaxed, would at once be placed on the tax-list. But property heretofore has only been assessed 70 per cent. of its value. Sec. 178 goes to the root of this abuse. "ALL property not exempt from taxation by this constitution shall be assessed for taxation at its fair cash value estimated at what it would bring at voluntary sale." And then follows a provision forfeiting the assessor's office if he fails to value and assess all property. This sets the tax-plover a little digging, but if it applies equally and impartially to everybody and to all property there is little room for complaint. But does it?

It was objected time and again during the discussion, by such delegates as Jacobs, DeHaven, Barnum—by the wisest and most conservative—that all this matter was purely legislative, proper to be dealt with only by the people in their General Assembly as occasion required, and entirely out of place in the organic law whose sole province is to fix the great landmarks of liberty and of good government. Why not leave all this to the people to whom it belongs? "Because," responded the all-virtuous majority, "we distrust the legislature, (that is, the people) we distrust its capacity to act sensibly and we distrust even more its honesty. It is bought up by corporations and takes free passes from railroads." Is this a misrepresentation of the temper of the convention? Read the following colloquy from the official record of March 27th, page 37:

Mr. Mackey—"Why should not the entire matter be left to the legislature?"

Mr. Bennett Young—"I do not believe much in legislatures."

Mr. M.—"Would it not be well for the convention to abolish the legislature?"

Mr. Y.—"If I had it in my power, so far as proper, I would make an effort in that direction."

Mr. M.—"The tendency of the convention seems in that direction."

Mr. Y.—"We have gone pretty far."

So it was, this feeling prevailed. Thro' fear the legislatures would be corrupted by the railroads and for no other reason, the Chapter of Revenue and Taxation was engrafted in the constitution. Ninety millions more of the people's household goods are subjected to tax, and all property is to be taxed at its full value. Rather hard this, but fair as it applies equally to all, one would say. But read on to the end of the chapter. The very last provision, Sec. 189, declares this:

"Nothing in this constitution contained shall be so construed as to prevent the General Assembly from providing by law how railroads and R. R. property shall be assessed, and how taxes thereon shall be collected."

Every man and beast and thing in the Commonwealth is taxed to the highest notch by the unchangeable, iron rule of the constitution, excepting only the railroads, and these are left to be assessed high or low, or not to be assessed at all as the case may be, by these same venal, corruption-ridden legislatures of which they were so sorely afraid. One would have supposed that the opposite course would have been pursued, that the inflexible law of the constitution would have been provided for the corporation, while the saving grace of the legislature would have been offered to the masses, but one can no more tell, it seems, what a virtuous delegate is going to do than what to expect from a debauched legislator. Alas!—it must be confessed—even this wise and truly good body of men, wiser and better than all past legislatures, better and wiser than any future legislature, even the immaculate constitutional convention of '91, had its breeches' pockets filled with free R. R. passes, and used them with great satisfaction for the weekly free trips home and the nightly free trips to the fleshpots of Louisville. Great Heavens! Can it be that this had ought to do with the adoption of Sec. 189?

BECAUSE the Courier-Journal double-somersaulted on the Constitution is no reason that the Times should have done so too, except that it is under the same editorial management, a charge that it has been trying to repel for so these many years.

THE Weather Service will be transferred from the war to the agricultural department tomorrow. Perhaps after that it will not be so red hot.

The White Feather.

The Courier-Journal of last Saturday furnished its friends with a great surprise and a great humiliation. In set terms it abandoned further opposition to the new constitution, not because its opinion of that instrument has changed—for it reaffirms the prediction that its adoption would bring irretrievable disaster to the State—not because an intelligent, elevated, non-partisan discussion of its radical changes in the organic law would in any wise embarrass or imperil the democratic State ticket, for no human being can be so foolish as to apprehend this for a moment; not because it is a matter of slight consequence, for the Courier-Journal was the first to say, and to say truly, that it is a question of transcendent importance to every man, woman and child in Kentucky; but because "it is no test of any man's democracy," and "a general debate over it might produce friction." For two months this great newspaper, with its accustomed force and ability, has been urging us to reject this work of the convention. It has urged that it was a non-partisan question, affecting no man's allegiance to his party, and that it was the first duty of democrats and republicans alike—not compromising party differences in the least—to unite in the urgent and imperative task of protecting our common organic law from desecration. And now in the very heat of the fight, which it began and led, it proclaims "For these reasons, we retire with this issue from the discussion." For the same reasons every other newspaper in the State and every public man in the State, on either side of the controversy, should be silent. All sources to which the people have been accustomed to look for information and guidance should be closed, and the gravest and most fateful question which has been submitted to this generation of Kentuckians should be settled without debate, without reflection, without "friction." Indeed no question, however urgent, vital and public, should ever be discussed unless it has been made a "test" of party loyalty. Was ever before so sorry a course taken by a leader and moulder of public opinion? Was ever before so sorry an excuse offered for it? Did ever before a newspaper, great or small, put such an affront on the intelligence of its readers? The Courier-Journal, we say it wholly in sorrow and not at all in anger, has done itself, in one day, what its enemies and rivals could never have done—broken forever its power and influence in the State.

At the great battle of Mollwitz, and in the hottest part of it, Frederick the Prussian commander, turned his horse and fled the field. The common soldiers, however, refused to follow the ignoble example, and standing their ground, fought out the fight and won by the close of day, and without a leader, one of the world's famous victories. It is even yet the proudest day in Prussian history, and it is even yet embittered by the memory that on that day their king and leader had shown himself a craven.

This illustration will need no diagram.

In his speech at Falmouth, Hon. John Young Brown said that as an humble citizen he will vote for the new constitution, but will not discuss the question in his canvass, as said he "I fully recognize that it is no test of any man's democracy, for I know thousands of the best democrats of the State who will vote the other way. I do not intend during the canvass to again allude to the subject, but will give my attention to State and National politics, about which there are well defined issues. I will discuss the record of the republican party, which its candidates seek to shun." Of course we wish Mr. Brown could have taken the side we have so heartily championed, but the fact that he has not will cut no figure in our earnest support of him and the ticket he so grandly heads. The constitution is not an issue in this campaign and we are not going to fall out with our best friends for not thinking as we do.

J. FRAZE RICHARD, the Washington idiot who telegraphed Foraker to have the Ohio convention take suitable action on the discharge of "the rebel woman, who on hearing of Sherman's death, said the devil has got his dues," is in jail for stealing papers from the census office. This is a terrible outrage, which the Ohio republicans ought at once to meet in called convention and stigmatize in the strongest language of which they are capable. So great a patriot as J. Frazz Richard should not be permitted to have his war on women checked by a sojourn in a foul dungeon even if he does steal and do other mean things.

THE lion and the lamb seem to be lying together considerably this year. Maj. Wood was the guest of Hon. John Young Brown while he was in Henderson, and the Somerset Reporter says: "Mr. Brown was entertained while here by Hon. T. Z. Morrow. They were classmates at Centre College in 1855. Brown was serenaded at Judge Morrow's residence Monday night by the Somerset orchestra and replied in a few happy remarks."

ALL his newspaper friends hoped that Col. H. M. McCarty's honorable career would be climaxed with a unanimous election for the senate, but it is not to be now, at least. A. C. Beard, of Scott, beat him in Woodford and that county holding the balance of power, the editor was defeated, the more's the pity.

THE London Echo, whose editor has good reason to dislike Judge Boyd, who will not even permit Mr. Dyche to speak to him, objects to our assertion that the Judge is a man of great influence in his section and attempts to belittle us by saying that the editor of this paper was placed under the humiliation of swallowing his own words written or uttered in regard to him. We never made any charges against Judge Boyd. As Mr. Dyche knows, if he is capable of having anything driven into his addled pate, a correspondent made the charges, which upon investigation we found could not bear the test of a legal scrutiny. As a gentleman and as an editor desirous only of doing what is right, we simply stated that what had been charged could not be sustained in court, and that was the end of it. Any gentleman will make all the amends in his power for an injury unjustly inflicted on a Mr. Dyche simply counts himself outside of that circle when he goes out of his way to refer to a matter which has been satisfactorily adjusted between those most interested.

THE idea of some scientists that rainfall can be produced at pleasure by concussion has been given a practical test at Washington. Balloons were sent up charged with hydrogen and oxygen that were exploded by electricity. Experiments on an extensive scale are to be made in the arid regions of the west. Rain followed the first test, but we suppose it was going to rain any way.

THE assurance comes from Iowa that George Boies will be re-elected by 30,000 majority. If he does he will be the next vice-president of the United States.

TO TEACHERS.—Examination for white teachers, Friday, July 3rd, at 9 A. M. sharp. Please come in time. W. F. McClary.

WHILE working with a twine binder, Dick Denny caught his hand in a cog-wheel, tearing a couple of fingers apart and otherwise badly injuring it.

TAXES.—Sheriff J. N. Menifee notifies the tax-payers that he is ready to receive their taxes, and hopes every one will try to be the first to pay.

FOR drunken and disorderly conduct and chasing a couple of women of his own color, Bill Singleton was fined $10 in Judge Carson's court yesterday morning. After working out his fine he will be tried for carrying concealed weapons.

THE dispatches led us into error with reference to the re-adjustment of salaries of third-class postmasters in this section. Several of them are increased. At Lancaster, Miss Ella Watson's is increased from $1,100 to $1,200. Danville gets an increase of $100 and so do Harrodsburg, Lawrenceburg, Middlesboro, Pineville, Richmond, Somerset and Winchester. Stanford remains as last year.

SWALLOWED A BONE.—George Dinwiddie, chief clerk at Mr. D. G. Slaughter's Green Briar Springs, was down Sunday to have Dr. Carpenter remove a bone from his throat. While eating a piece of chicken that morning he accidentally swallowed a bone 1 1/2 inches long which not only pained him greatly but gave him much alarm. The Crab Orchard doctors tried to relieve the young man of his trouble but failed to do so and it was necessary for him to come to this place to be rid of the "bone of contention."

DECAPITATED.—Will Tom Pence, son of Elisha Pence, of Rowland, had his head severed from his body by freight train 33 near Corbin Friday night. Mr. Pence was braking on 34 and was sent to flag 33. Worn out and sleepy, it is supposed that he laid down and with the rail for a pillow, dropped into a nap. Other portions of his body were badly mangled and the corpse presented a sickening sight. It was brought here and prepared for burial by Mr. J. C. McClary, Undertaker Huffman's assistant. Mr. Pence was under 20 but was engaged to be married shortly to a lady at Maywood.

HALE'S WELL.—A couple of days at Hale's Well again proved to the writer that there are wonderful virtues in its water, which comes in cooling draughts 28 feet from the bowels of the earth. Mr. Reuben Flora, the clever proprietor, has put things in nice shape, and the main building and the cottages look all the cooler for their coats of white wash as they nestle in the shade. Mrs. Flora sets a splendid table, her handsome daughters, Miss Sallie and Florence, do all in their power to make the time pass pleasantly to the guests, and on the whole Hale's Well is more attractive than ever before. It is handy and cheap and the wonder is that our citizens do not patronize it extensively.

THE HOP.—Had the music been good the impromptu hop on Friday evening would have rivaled the grand "semi-annuals" that the Merry Bachelors are noted for giving, but as it was, it was a most enjoyable occasion and a fitting finale of a week of festivity. There were at least 40 young ladies who participated in the Terpsichorean revel and a fairer or lovelier lot could not be found were the vast domain between Cape Cod and Kalamazoo searched. Attired in full evening dress, these 40 favored fairies, assisted by the chivalry of this immediate section, made a scene that caused many an old head to long for the days of his youth that he might take part in the merriment and with thought only of the dance, trip the light fantastic to his heart's content. Besides our bevy of handsome "home" girls, the following young ladies from a distance were present, who added greatly to the pleasure of the evening as well as to the beauty of it: Misses Julia Yager, Bessie Bernard, Louisville; Misses Flora Wheatley, Anne Lou deJarnette, Georgia; Misses Mary and Annie Pickett, Shelbyville; Miss Ella Tinsley, Barbourville; Misses Mariah Cook, Mamie and Carrie Currey, Lancaster; Misses Kate Cook, Anna Reid, Lou Drye, Hustonville. It was 3:30 before the music stopped and even at that late hour the happy young folks left the hall with reluctance.

THE 4th of July picnic at Green Briar Springs will be a grand affair and every body should go.

A shower which was both needed and refreshing cooled the torrid atmosphere some yesterday afternoon.

PICNIC.—Mrs. Mary Bell Adams writes that she will give a free picnic at old Dripping Springs on the 4th of July. Everybody invited to come and bring their dinner.

NEW FIRM.—Having purchased of S. P. Stagg his interest in the firm of Stagg & McRoberts, I ask of my friends and old patrons a continuance of patronage I have heretofore received. Very respectfully, W. H. Higgins.

DURING the storm of Sunday afternoon lightning struck a tree on Mrs. Susan Blackerby's farm, killing a couple of valuable mules that were standing under it. There was a severe storm in the Hubble neighborhood and for an hour the rain fell in torrents. The dust wasn't laid though in Stanford.

JOHN W. WALLACE swore out a warrant yesterday for assault against Rowan Sautley, who he claimed had struck his son Will so as to produce brain fever. Dr. Reid swore, however, that as the lick was on the shoulder that could not have produced concussion of the brain. The youth did not deny that he struck the blow, but said he did it because Wallace had lied on him. Judge Carson held the defendant in $50 bond to the circuit court.

THOSE two well-known farmers and gardeners, Fatty Nunneley and Brighty Ferrill, are preparing to make a mint of money this year and it looks now as if they are on the right road to do so. Realizing the high price paid for Irish potatoes and the growing demand for cabbage and tomatoes, they rented 25 acres of land from Mrs. Sue Baughman and put half of it in potatoes, 8 acres in cabbage and the remainder in tomatoes. The potatoes and cabbage are looking splendidly while they have tomatoes as large as hen eggs and some of them nearly ripe. This is perhaps the largest garden in this section and will very probably prove the best paying one.

—The News says there never was such a peach crop as is now bending the trees to the ground on Muldraugh's Hill. For miles and miles can be seen orchard after orchard groaning under the weight of the luscious fruit.

—Last week was a fine one for wheat harvesting and the farmers got in their work well. The acreage was fully up to the average, and the yield will be about 12 bushels to the acre. Some sales of new wheat have been made at 75 and 80 cents.

—E. W. Lee sold to W. T. Robinson 200 mountain ewes at $4. D. N. Prewitt shipped Thursday 6 car-loads of lambs, 82 pounds average, to Cincinnati, for which he paid 5 to 5 1/2 cents. He shipped 8 car-loads from Lancaster Tuesday.—Advocate.

Prewitt & Lynn will handle this season 8,000 lambs, for which they will pay the farmers about $32,000. The lamb crop now brings the farmers more than their hogs used to.

—This tariff atrocity has forced down the price of Ohio wool in one year from 34 cents to 31 1/2 cents. We have this year imported four times as much wool of a character similar to the Ohio wool as we did for the like period last year, and the importations of all kinds of wool have more than doubled.—Enquirer.

—Attention is directed to the notice of the Garrard county fair which appears in this issue. It will be held July 17 and 18 and the exhibition promises to be even more successful than last year, when it delighted everybody. The premium list is enlarged, no entrance fee for stock will be charged and no such word as fail will be known.

—The Climax says that one Richmond merchant shipped 18,000 dozen eggs in the last seven weeks, paying 12 1/2 to 14 cents for them or a total of $2,340. Then the elongated interrogation mark adds: This is no exaggeration, but eggactly the facts in the case, showing that the eggspertment of running a large produce house in Richmond is, as he eggspected it would be, a profitable one.

—Squire J. S. Murphy writes: As indicating the wheat crop of Lincoln county you might say that it is known that about 16,000 pounds of twine have been used, averaging 1 1/2 pounds to the acre gives about 10,700 acres cut with twine binders; which estimated to yield 10 1/2 bushels per acre, gives 112,000 bushels. If half as much more has been bound with straw we should then have 168,000 bushels as the crop of the Lincoln county for 1891.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—An unusually large number of young ladies will visit Lancaster during the fair.

—At last accounts James L. Duncan, who has been quite ill at Atlanta, Ga., was greatly improved.

—By an arrangement entered into by the pastors of the various churches, services will be had at only one of the churches on Sabbath night during the summer months. The first of these meetings will be held at the Christian church next Sunday night, when Rev. Cook of the Methodist church will preach.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Farrish have taken rooms at Dr. Wm. Huffman's. Wood G. Dunlap was in town Saturday. Clyde Landram has accepted a permanent position as operator at Central Covington. John S. Hopper is recovering from a short spell of sickness. Eph Higgins is in town. D. M. Lackey and Col. Faulkner are here from Madison county. Mrs. Walker Landram has returned from Richmond.

—The large grain elevator, near the K. C. depot, was destroyed by fire about 3 o'clock this Monday morning. When discovered the entire house was ablaze and none of the contents was saved. The building was owned by W. H. Kincaid and valued at $3,000. The building contained $4,000 worth of wheat, the property of H. A. B. Marksbury, and $3,500 worth of wool belonging to Joe Haas, of Danville. The origin of the fire is unknown.

—The Chautauqua Assembly will meet at Lexington to-day. Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia, will deliver an oration on the 4th of July.

—The Rev. William M. Ogden, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, at Warrenburg, N. Y., fell dead in his pulpit while preaching a sermon Sunday.
